Staff Spotlight—Arianne Fishman

In this issue:

- Staff Spotlight
- Polar Plunge
- School activities
- Clean School Contest
- Arts on Main

Arianne Fishman is our Teacher of the Month. This is her first year here at Webb Street after previously teaching for six years at Metro School in Charlotte. Arianne attended Liberty University in her home state of Virginia. She enjoys gardening and loves spending time with her husband and children, Alec and Emily. We are very glad to have Arianne here at Webb Street!

School Activities

Thursday is movie day! The elementary students will be watching the movie “The Snowman.” Middle school and high school students will be watching the movie “Percy Jackson, Sea of Monsters” to complete their study unit on mythology.

This Friday, the Tuttle PE Club from Catawba County will be here to present a program to all of our students. The PE Club consists of middle school students who perform jump rope tricks and ride unicycles. This is the fifth year the Tuttle PE Club has been to visit Webb Street School.

“Leadership isn’t about winning. It’s about bringing people with you to the finish line.”

-John C. Maxwell

Field Trips

Wednesday, Ms. Miller’s class will visit the Habitat for Humanity store. Ms. Springer’s class has a busy week. The students will visit Believe in Abilities Wednesday and Friday they will ride on the Gastonia City Bus.

“I Love a Clean School” Contest

Congratulations! Webb Street School is a winner in the “I Love a Clean School” contest! This contest is sponsored by Keep Gastonia Beautiful and promotes cleanliness and pride in area schools. Thanks to everyone for keeping our school clean and showing our Spider pride!

Polar Plunge-Freezing for a Reason

The Webb Street Polar Plunge is Friday, March 6th, at 12:30 pm at the pool. All donations will benefit Gaston County Special Olympics and donations of $25 will receive a free Polar Plunge t-shirt. The classroom with the highest total collected will get to “plunge” in the pool and receive hot chocolate and cookies. If Webb Street School raises $125, Ms. Howe will “plunge”!! The Gaston County Polar Plunge is on March 14th at Tailrace Marina in Mount Holly.

Arts on Main

Several of our students are representing the Spiders with their Awesome Artwork. The artwork is on display at Arts on Main art exhibit in downtown Gastonia. The awesome artists are Landon Y., William S., Haley J., Hailey M., Trey H., Madison O., Justin H., and Lauren M. Stop by and see their artwork now through March.
